Why It Matters

Voting is a fundamental right. Every eligible voter should have a say in their own future. Active voter participation builds healthier communities. People who vote are more likely to volunteer, advocate, or be civically active in other ways. Elected officials are more likely to respond to the needs and concerns of neighborhoods that turn out on Election Day, and they are more responsive to organizations that promote voting.

Where We Stand

Voting should be easy in our country, but many people face barriers. Nonprofits can help. Research proves that when nonprofits encourage voting - on a nonpartisan basis, people vote at significantly higher levels than if nonprofits sat on the sidelines and did nothing. When nonprofits encourage people to vote, it's not an empty "feel good" activity. It truly makes a difference when people know they matter.
